A NEW SOCIAL CLUB.

"The Assembly" is the Name and It Was Organized Last Night.

A LIST OF THE OFFICERS.

Organized for the Purpose of Contributing to Enjoyment of a Limited Number of Members—Series of Entertainments Given Each Year.

"The Assembly" is the name of a new social club organized in Wilmington last evening and one that promises to contribute largely to society's gaiety each year. The organization was under most favorable auspices and attended by much enthusiasm.

Officers for the ensuing year were elected as follows:

President—Mr. Gabriel Holmes.

Vice President—Mr. T. M. Emerson.

Secretary and Treasurer—Mr. Geo. L. Peschau.

Leader—Mr. H. H. McIlhenny.

Board of Governors—Messrs Gabriel Holmes, T. M. Emerson, Geo. L. Peschau, Frank H. Stedman, H. M. Chase, Warren G. Elliott, D. H. Lippitt, George Rountree and J. J. Blair.

The purpose of the club is to give a limited number of entertainments and dances each season and, although young, will advance rapidly to the front rank of social organizations in the city.

Last night the plans of the club were discussed at some length and the salient features of a constitution and by-laws were decided upon. The membership will be of an exclusive nature and the number of members will be restricted. All the functions given under the auspices of the club will be of an elaborate nature, but fewer in number than is generally given by similar organizations in the city. The age limit of members is twenty-five and the membership will, therefore, be of the older set of society young people.

The first of a series of entertainments will be given during the Christmas holidays and another, most probably, during the Eastertide.

"The Assembly" already has upon its roll of membership some of the most prominent young people of the city and will no doubt be a welcome addition to the society realm of the Cape Fear.

Meetings of the club will be held at stated intervals.

LIGHT INFANTRY ELECTION.

Two Lieutenants Chosen After Spirited Contest Between Friends of Candidates.

Pursuant to orders issued by Col. W. B. Rodman, commanding the Second Regiment, North Carolina State Guard, the Wilmington Light Infantry last night held an election of officers to fill vacancies as the result of which Second Lieutenant N. E. Gillican was chosen First Lieutenant to succeed Lieut. John VanB. Metts, resigned, and Mr. George P. James was elected second lieutenant to fill the vacancy made by the choice of Lieut Gillican for first place.

There was a spirited contest between friends of Lieut Gillican and Mr. Cuthbert Martin for the first lieutenancy but the first named was elected by the close vote of 23 to 21, denoting an unusually large number of members present as the result of the enthusiasm felt. The selection of Mr. James for second lieutenant was unanimous.

May Go by Water.

Rev. J. A. Dorritee, of Charlotte, who is here conducting the Y. M. C. A. services, is chaplain of his home company of heavy artillery and was in encampment with the "boys" here last Summer. The battery will go as a body to Charleston to attend the Exposition in that city and Mr. Dorritee says it is not improbable that the men will come to Wilmington and make the trip by water if satisfactory arrangements can be made. Wilmington will be glad to have the soldiers embark here.

Funeral of George Chadbourn.

The funeral services over the remains of the late Mr. George Chadbourn, whose very sad death was chronicled in these columns yesterday, will be held this morning at 10:30 o'clock from the First Presbyterian church, of which he was a devoted member and by the congregation of which he was so much loved. The interment will be at Oakdale cemetery.

A Malicious Prosecution.

Charles Moseley, colored, was arraigned in Justice Fowler's court yesterday, charged with assault and battery with a deadly weapon upon D. D. Carr, also colored. Carr failed to identify the defendant as his assailant and the prosecution was adjudged a malicious one in the light of the circumstances and the prosecutor was required to pay the cost.

One of Our Celestials.

Wadesboro Messenger and Intelligencer: "Jim Lee, a Chinaman, was here Monday, looking around for a location for a laundry. He has rented a room here, he says, and will move to Wadesboro about the first of next year. He is from Wilmington, but will stay in Rockingham until he moves to Wadesboro."

FUNERAL OF MRS. WHITING.

Services Yesterday Afternoon From Saint James' Church—Interment in Oakdale. Daughters of Confederacy.

In the presence of a very large gathering of friends and relatives the order for the burial of the dead over the remains of the late Mrs. Catherine D. Whiting was impressively said yesterday afternoon at 3 o'clock by the rector, Rev. Frederick H. T. Horsfield at St. James' Episcopal Church.

The church was well filled with people and perhaps no more impressive services were ever conducted in Wilmington. Mrs. Whiting was known and loved by a very large number of people and many of them were present to pay a last sad mark of their esteem. The members of Cape Fear Chapter, Daughters of the Confederacy, at the call of their president, Mrs. W. M. Parsley, assembled at the W. L. I. armory at 2 o'clock and attended the funeral in a body. Mrs. Whiting was a member of the Chapter and was devoted to its aims and objects. One of the prettiest of the many beautiful floral emblems that were laid upon the casket was sent by the Daughters of the Confederacy. It was a large wreath of white roses in the center of which was a miniature Confederate flag.

After the services at the church the funeral cortege moved slowly to beautiful Oakdale cemetery, where all that was mortal of the distinguished lady was committed to earth beneath a mound banked with beautiful flowers tenderly laid upon the grave by loving friends.

The pall bearers were as follows: Col. Jno. W. Atkinson, Col. Jno. D. Taylor, Col. A. M. Waddell, Col. W. L. DeRossett, Col. Jno. L. Cantwell, Capt. J. L. Boatwright, ex-Judge O. P. Meares, Dr. W. J. Love, Capt. W. R. Kenan, and Capt. C. B. Denson, of Raleigh; active, Dr. G. G. Thomas, Eugene S. Martin, Esq., Mr. T. O. Bunting, Capt. James I. Metts, Junius Davis, Esq., Capt. L. S. Belden, Mr. George Kidder, and Capt. T. D. Meares.

"THE WRONG MR. WRIGHT."

One of Broadhurst's Roaring Comedies This Afternoon and To-night—Mr. Goldstein Monday Evening.

"The Wrong Mr. Wright" comes to us endorsed by all the leading critics. It comes with the recommendation of entertaining theatre-goers for more than twenty weeks in London, England, and fifteen weeks in New York city, as well as long engagements in Boston, Philadelphia, Chicago and San Francisco and it heralded as being the best, brightest and merriest comedy that has emanated from the fertile brain of that clever playwright, Mr. Geo. H. Broadhurst, who has given us "What Happened to Jones" and "Why Smith Left Home." The piece is said to be brimful of bright and witty dialogue, catchy and spirited music, brilliant and dazzling costumes and startling and up-to date specialties, and this, too, without in any way detracting from the original amusing situations. Mr. John Allison is ably assisted by the following well known people, Maud Allison, Florence Marion, Ada Morton, H. G. Hockey, George L. Kennedy, Chas. Flynn and James Newton Drew.

The Gay Mr. Goldstein—Manager Henry Greenwall will present his three stars, Mary Hampton, Thos. J. Keogh and George C. Boniface, Jr., all of whom are well known to local playgoers, having been seen here individually at the head of their own companies, in the comedy novelty "The Gay Mr. Goldstein" at the Opera House next Monday night. "The Gay Mr. Goldstein" is said to be one of the most amusing farces of the season, and is a representation of the refined Hebrew, surrounded by all the elements of refinement. Supporting these three stars are Barry Maxwell, Francis M. Ball, S. J. Broughton, Alma Powell, Claire Armstrong, Frances Brooke and other players of note, who have been selected from among the foremost artists. Seats will be on sale this morning at Gerken's.

A CAPTAIN'S FAREWELL.

Note of Thanks Upon His Departure by Master of Steamer "Polano."

The STAR has the following, with request for publication, from Capt. Holttum, of the steamer Polano, which sailed yesterday:

EDITOR STAR:—May I trespass on the valuable space in your paper to bid adieu, on behalf of myself and officers, to one and all of our numerous good friends in the city and suburbs and to express our sincere and hearty appreciation of all the kind and whole-souled favors extended to us during our stay. Wishing all a very bright and happy Christmas and a glad New Year.

CHAS. H. HOLTTUM,
Master Steamer Polano.

Happy Ending of a Law Suit.

Owen Whitney, colored, was arraigned in Justice Fowler's court yesterday on a charge of seduction, preferred by Mary Anna Jones. Whitney combatted the indictment as far as possible but the evidence was sufficient to admit of probable cause and he went to jail for the higher court. Prison life was too much for him, however, and he sent word to Justice Fowler that he wanted to confer upon him "the honor" of solemnizing his marriage with his prosecutor of a few hours before. He was accordingly brought out of jail and the ceremony was performed in the presence of a few curious spectators. Thus ended the law suit.

SERVICES AT THE Y. M. C. A.

Mr. Dorritee Made a Forcible Appeal Last Night—Sunday Meetings.

Last night the meeting at the Y. M. C. A. in observance of the week of prayer was well attended and Rev. Mr. Dorritee made a very forcible address upon the subject, "It's Up To You." Miss Norma Foster rendered two pleasing solos and the effect of the meeting upon the attendants was plainly evident.

To-morrow afternoon at 4:45 o'clock Rev. Mr. Dorritee will make his closing appeal to the young men of Wilmington and all are especially invited to attend. A special musical programme has been prepared, including a duet by Mrs. W. L. Latta and Mr. H. K. Holden. The Association quartette will also render several numbers.

Mr. Whitehead attended the conference also as a representative of the Georgia Saw Mill Association. He says the effect of the conference is yet to be seen, but that the meeting was a most representative one. The saw mill men, he said, would fight to the last every attempt to lower the tariff on lumber.

Cotton Receipts and Prices.

Cotton receipts at this port for the past week were 16,042 bales against 10,730 bales during the same week last year. Since September 1st the receipts this year have been 155,970 bales against 174,916 bales during a corresponding period last year. Last year on the same day the Wilmington market was 9¼ cents for middling.

Capt. Kyle Here.

Capt. W. E. Kyle, special agent of the Atlantic Coast Line, with headquarters at Fayetteville, arrived in the city last evening and is a guest at The Orton. Capt. Kyle is just back from Buffalo, where he has been since September 1st in the interest of the A. C. Dr. Blackwell's Illness.

Dr. Blackwell has been confined to his room all the week by a mild case of la grippe, but he will be able to fill his pulpit at both services to-morrow and to administer the ordinance of baptism at the close of the night service. A POULTRY SHOW.

Wilmington Association Will Give One During First Week in January.

ARRANGEMENT COMMITTEE.

Organization Less Than a Year Old, But It is Very Much Alive—Meeting Last Night at Which the Event Was Thoroughly Discussed.

A poultry and pet stock show will be given in Wilmington during the first week in January.

That will be welcome news indeed to fanciers throughout Eastern North Carolina and the success of the venture is vouched for by the Wilmington Poultry and Live Stock Association, which was organized in this city a little less than a year ago with a competent corps of officers, and an outlook that will prove its brightness when the fair comes on.

The decision to give the show was reached last night at an enthusiastic meeting of the Association held at the Bonita Hotel upon which there were in attendance a goodly number of members, whose enthusiasm knew no bounds.

All preliminaries will, of course, have to be discussed later, but it is enough to know that the fair will be held and that behind the project are some of the best known fanciers in the city and county.

After a decision to hold the show was reached at the meeting last night the next step was to appoint a committee of arrangements and commit to their keeping all the details of the show. This committee was appointed as follows: S. J. Davis, Frank L. Huggins and John C. Boesch. These gentlemen will decide upon a location for the show and arrange all other preliminaries of whatsoever nature. In the meantime, the committee will not be without the counsel of the Association as a whole, for it was decided at the meeting last night to gather each Friday night for the purpose of conferring with the committee until after the show.

The Association expects to show about 100 coops of fancy poultry, Belgian hares, etc., and the railroads will be petitioned for reduced rates.

As before stated the Association is less than a year old but it numbers among its members half a hundred of enthusiastic poultrymen who will put forth their very best effort to make the show the splendid success that it no doubt will be. The officers of the Association are as follows:

President—E. P. Bailey.

Vice President—A. C. Sneed.

Secretary and Treasurer—W. C. Armstrong.

Assistant Secretary and Treasurer—W. H. McEachern.

THAT BASEBALL CIRCUIT.

Ed. Ashenback Leaves Raleigh for Savannah to Begin Work Organizing.

[News and Observer, 22nd.]

Mr. E. M. Ashenback left last night for Savannah, where he begins work with the organization of the new tri-State league, which is to be composed of leading baseball cities in North and South Carolina and Georgia.

The letters received with reference to the organization of this league gives strong evidence that it will be a success. Mr. Ashenback will spend several days in Savannah and then he will go to Augusta, Charleston, Columbia and possibly Spartanburg and Greenville, S. C. The North Carolina points will not be visited at the present. The towns in this State that are considered for membership in the league are Charlotte, Winston-Salem, Greensboro, Wilmington and Raleigh.

Mr. Ashenback is one of the best known baseball players in the county. He has played in all the cities mentioned, and he is the man to undertake organization of the league. He is well liked and popular with the public.

A meeting of those interested in the proposed league will probably be held at some point in South Carolina in the near future. There are several managers of experience and standing who have applied for franchises.

It is believed that Mr. Payseur will accept though every effort will be made to retain him by his Wilmington congregation, by whom he is much loved.

Mr. Fred Herbst, who recently sustained a painful injury near Macon, Ga., by which both legs were cut off by a moving train, arrived home yesterday afternoon and is at the Memorial Hospital until his wounds can heal. He came alone from Macon where he had been under treatment since the accident and was met at the station here by friends and relatives and sent in a carriage to the hospital. WILMINGTON, N. C.

SATURDAY MORNING, NOV. 23.

AFRAID OF SUBSIDY SCHEME.

It is said that Senators Frye and Hanna have another ship subsidy bill worked up different in some respects from the bill which got hung up in the Senate last year. In revising they have tried to eliminate the features of the first bill which met so much objection. What the provisions of the new bill are is not yet definitely known because Messrs. Frye and Hanna have declined to give it to the public before they are ready to introduce it in Congress, but it is intimated that they have made large concessions to the opposition and that the new bill will be materially different from the old one. They may think it prudent to keep the provisions of the new bill from the public until they are ready to spring it on Congress, for the less it is discussed the more the chance it will stand of passing, for popular sentiment, especially in the West, is against that scheme, and when it comes under discussion the gentlemen in Congress would soon begin to hear from their constituents and learn how they stand on that question. As we see it, the chances for passing any kind of a ship subsidy bill ought to be less now than when the Frye-Payne bill was first introduced in the last Congress, for our ship builders are all busy now, the tonnage turned out the past year is greater than in any preceding year and in addition to that old yards have been enlarged and new ones started or projected not simply for building lake and coast vessels, but ocean-going ships.

The old bill provided subsidies for foreign built ships, purchased within a given time, but on condition that an equal amount of tonnage be built in American yards, the subsidy to be withheld until the American ships had been built. There was so much opposition to this provision, coming presumably from American ship builders, that it is understood that it has been eliminated from the new bill. But the advocates of a merchant marine who are thinking more of a merchant marine than of subsidies, regard that as one of the most commendable features of the old bill, contending that if the purchaser of foreign built ships be not encouraged the establishment of a merchant marine will be much delayed because for several years to come the prospect is that our ship yards will be kept so busy building Government vessels, and others that may be wanted for special service, that they can do but little work in filling orders for freight ships if they got the orders. It is said that it would be five or six years before our yards would be prepared to enter actively upon the work of filling orders for vessels for the new merchant marine.

In the meantime foreign yards will continue building as they are now doing and will have added many thousands to the tonnage of their fleets, and make that much more competition for the American ships that may be put afloat. It will then be a question with the American shipper of not what flag the ship flies, but what ship would give him the cheapest rates, the probabilities being that five or six years hence, with the world's increased tonnage, rates will be cheaper than they are now. If the difference between American and European rates is to be made up by subsidies what does the American shipper (who in this case means the American farmer and producer of exportable commodities) profit by it for he will be simply paying in subsidies what he saves in freight, if he saves anything.

There is some difference of opinion as to whether any kind of a subsidy bill can be passed through Congress, as a good many of the Congressmen and Senators, especially from the West, are quite indifferent about it, while some of them would like to see it quietly shoved away in a pigeon hole and permitted to sleep undisturbed. This is especially true of Rrepresentatives and Senators from the agricultural States who do not see where their constituents who find no difficulty in getting all the transportation they need for for their products will be benefitted by subsidized American ships.

If they consent to discuss the measure at all it is said they will insist that the subsidy be based on tonnage regardless of speed or the capacity of the ship, their idea being that the kind of a merchant marine needed is moderate sized freight carriers similar to the ordinary tramp, which now does so much of the world's ocean business.

They are right in this if subsidies are to be granted at all. As an illustration; England, the great commercial and maritime nation, has ten tramps or ordinary freight ships to the one high priced vessel, and it is these that carry her commerce over the world and give her her boasted supremacy on the seas. These are the common carriers of the ocean, and that's the kind of ships that we need. Vessels of this class could be operated at a profit where large, high priced ships requiring large crews would become bankrupt. The ordinary freighter could pick up a cargo in almost any of our ports, while the large ships would have to depend on our great ports for their cargoes.

These are the kind of vessels the South is especially interested in, for these are the kind that would contribute most to the building up of her export and import trade, especially in the event of the construction of the Isthmian canal, which ought to open up a big trade with the countries South of us. This is the kind of vessels needed to carry our cotton, lumber and other products to foreign markets. That isn't the kind of a merchant marine the subsidy grabbers want, but that is the kind of a merchant marine the country should have and that is the only kind that there can be any half way decent excuse for asking Government aid to, and there isn't any good excuse for that when if the restrictions were removed Americans would buy or have built all of that kind there would be any profitable use for.

FIGHTING THE RAILROAD COMBINE.

The late railroad combine by J. Pierpont Morgan embraces all the trans-continental roads, with the exception of the Canadian Pacific. It embraces also several of the other leading lines east of the Mississippi. Altogether the combine so far embraces and controls nearly 45,000 miles of road, nearly one-fourth of the total mileage of the country. But these being trunk lines they, of course, control thousands of miles of tributary lines, which are practically as much a part of the system as if they were actually in it. The combine can force every one of these tributary lines to pay tribute to it, and thus it can make its power felt by millions of people far removed from the lines embraced in the combine.

The people of the West are apprehensive of trouble when this combine becomes firmly entrenched, and therefore a movement has been made by Governor Van-Sant, of Minnesota, to fight it. He has instructed the Attorney General to proceed against the combiners for violation of the anti-consolidation laws of Minnesota, and invites a conference and the co-operation of the Governors of other Western States which have anti-consolidation laws similar to those of Minnesota, to fight this railroad trust. It is claimed that this consolidation is an open violation of the laws of several of the Western States, a fact which was admitted a year or more ago when a similar movement was under discussion, but was not then effected for this alleged reason.

It is not surprising that the Western people who are almost wholly dependent on these lines for transportation, should feel apprehensive at the prospect of doing away with all competition by putting all the lines under one management, thus putting them completely in the power of the managers of the combination. The rivers would be the only competitors of the combine, but when these were ice-locked, which they usually are before the bulk of the Western crops, meats, &c., are marketed, the roads would have no competition and could make their own rates.

One of the combiners says the combine "would benefit the public." Perhaps it may, and might if the combine were not governed by selfishness and did not take advantage of its opportunity to tax the public, but the temptation would be great and the history of all combines is rather against their showing a spirit of benevolence or much consideration for the public when it is a question of profits with them.

On general principles monopolies are always dangerous, and there is no reason to believe that this late colossal railroad combine would be an exception.

THE PROSPECTIVE COMBINE.

The following, which we clip from the Lincoln Journal, is interesting.

"We have it from the best source that the anti-machine Democrats of this Congressional district will nominate either Dr. Jno. H. McAden or D. A. Tompkins, of Charlotte, for Congress and that either one of them would receive the solid Republican vote. Either of these gentlemen, who are largely interested in the development of the cotton milling industries of the South, would make an ideal Congressman and receive the support of that element in the Democratic party in this district which is opposed to the machine and the political vagaries it advocates."

This is the first direct intimation we have had of a movement to cooperate with the McLaurin movement in South Carolina. Mr. McLaurin gave it the first send-off in the speech which he made at the meeting of the Cotton Spinners' Association in Charlotte last year. Both of the gentlemen named in this extract were present at this meeting and both of them are in accord with his views, and therefore there is nothing improbable in the statement by the Journal, if they feel disposed to take an active part in politics and accept such a nomination.

But they should not do it under pretence of fighting "the machine," for that is a stereotyped pretence with those who can't control "the machine," and have aspirations. They are both men of ability, and both claim to be Democrats, and yet either accepting such a nomination coming in such a way from a comparatively small number of "anti-machine" Democrats would necessarily be dependent upon Republican votes for an election. This much is virtually admitted in the statement that the nominee "would receive the solid Republican vote."

The Republicans tried for several years to win the Congressional districts and capture the State from the Democrats by combining with the Populists, and now as the Populists have played out and ceased to be a political factor they are going to try the effect of a combine with "the anti-machine" Democrats. But it will not work any better than the Pop combine did. The people will soon get to understand these dodges.

Marion Butler told a Washington Post scribe a few days ago that he was "out of politics for good and all." It may be incidentally remarked that Marion didn't get out of politics till he was bounced out. He stuck while there was anything in politics for him. But he is out for good, for the good of the people whom he did so much to dupe. They would have been the gainers by it if he had gone out several years sooner than he did.

As the earth passed through only a few of the scattered Leonids this time the impression is that the main bunch has either been dispersed or changed its base, and that we may never again witness those grand meteoric free shows. We would like to have some sharp-visioned, gifted star gazer rise and tell us what has become of them and what they are doing up there anyway.

Some papers in this country feel proud over the fact that they have lived from seventy-five to a hundred years. That is a pretty respectable journalistic age for this country, but they must sing low in the presence of the Pekin Gazette, which was established eighteen hundred years ago and is still in the ring.

Over 8,000 women are employed in the Government departments in Washington, three hundred of whom receive salaries ranging from $1,000 to $1,800 a year, the others salaries ranging from $600 to $900.

CURRENT COMMENT.

—— Col. Russell B. Harrison, discharged from the army against his will, desires to be a colonel still, and he is going in on his own account for a vindication. The colonel must have something up his sleeve that has been assiduously kept from the public hitherto.—Chattanooga Times, Ind.

—— One of the Wall street calamity howlers argues that there is not enough business for our ships now; therefore we must secure more ships by means of a subsidy. If our hunters would quit shooting each other long enough to take a tour through Wall street, the strange things they would see would so astonish them that they would forget they had guns.—Louisville Courier-Journal, Dem.

—— The story sent eastward from San Francisco of a threatened revolt in the Yukon territory against Canadian authority carries on its face the evidence of its preposterous character. It would hardly be necessary to send a soldier to quiet such an outbreak. The simple solution would be to cut off supplies and starve the insurrectionists into submission. This could easily be effected by the native force of the Imperial Government.—Philadelphia Record, Dem.

—— Saturday on the Ocean Parkway was a great day for the automobile, especially the gasoline kind, operated by Henry Fournier and Foxhall Keene. The machines were not timed precisely as horses on the track are in a match against time, but a mile in less than a minute is certainly a possibility on a good road with the most powerful of these vehicles; and it may be assumed that they could make thirty miles an hour on an ordinary country road in good condition, if the people who travel with horses would consent.—Brooklyn Citizen, Dem.

— Nashville Graphic: Monday evening near Whitakers, Dr. J. M. Sherrod had the misfortune to lose his gin house and fixtures by fire. In the house were eighteen bales of cotton, about four hundred bushels of cotton seed and two two-horse wagons. Just how the fire originated is not known, but is thought to have been caused by sparks from the boiler house. There was no insurance and the loss is considerable.

— Lexington Dispatch: Mr. Wm. Wagner, a well to do farmer, of Hanes, lost his large barn containing 8 head of cattle, 3 horses, all his farming implements, 150 bushels grain, a lot of feed, &c., by fire last Friday night the origin of the fire is shrouded in mystery. The barn was located some distance from the house and Mr. Wagner and his family knew nothing of the fire until Saturday morning when they arose and started to feed the stock.

— Fayetteville Observer: Lucinda Smith, a well known colored woman residing on Haymount, was in good health yesterday. To-day she is dead —the result of fright. This fact is certified to by her physician, Dr. John D. MacRae. Some time ago her husband, William Smith, was arrested, charged with robbing the barns of certain residents of Haymount, tried and bound over to court. Lucinda, his wife, was summoned as a witness, but was so frightened she became ill and was unable to attend the magistrate's court. She told Dr. MacRae that if she had to attend as a witness in the Superior Court she knew it would kill her. Wednesday she was in her usual good health, performing her duties as nurse at Doctor Lilly's, when a deputy sheriff appeared with a subpœna for her attendance as a witness at court, her husband's case coming up that afternoon. Last night she died of paralysis caused by the great fright. Her husband was tried and found not guilty, and when he was set free and went home his wife was already dying. When told by the deputy that was wanted at court, she took suddenly ill and had to be carried home, and therefore did not appear at court. On Tuesday her 16-year-old daughter ran away from home and got married, and this, too, may have added to the causes leading to her death.

— Wadesboro Messenger-Intelligencer: The farmers say that the frosts have ruined the top crop cotton. All the bolls, except those that were grown when the frost came, are rotting and will make no yield at all —— Last Friday Deputy Marshall Hampton, of Charlotte, arrested W. H. Odom at his home in McFarlan, on a capias issued by the clerk of the Federal Court of this district on the charge of defrauding the government. Mr. Odom was brought to Wadesboro Friday afternoon and taken before U. S. Commissioner F. C. Broadaway, who required him to give a justified bond in the sum of $300 for his appearance at the next term of Federal Court in Charlotte, December 9th. The bond was given and Mr. Odom returned to his home. —— Last Friday morning between 3 and 4 o'clock the dead body of Rev. J. M. Mitchell, col., was found lying in the fire at the home of Walker Meachum, who lives in Gulledge township. The body was first discovered by Walker's wife, who at once raised the alarm. When the body was taken from the fire it was found that the unfortunate man's face was almost cremated and that his body, arms, hands and knees were also terribly burned. The body when discovered was in a kneeling position, the forehead resting against the back of the fireplace with the hands and knees in the fireplace.

How to Restore Soiled Ribbon.

A milliner restores soiled and crumpled ribbon by sponging first with ammonia and water and then pressing with a heavy iron. The iron is not passed over the ribbon, but the ribbon is drawn slowly from beneath it, and care should be taken to put a piece of unused tissue paper between the ribbon and the iron. Shiny streaks in ribbon may be removed by sponging with alcohol.

CARE OF CHILDREN.

How the Baby Should Be Treated. Things to Avoid.

Beware of trying to take the advice and adopting the methods of all your friends who have lately become matrons. Inexperienced mothers are apt to try too many plans, to their child's detriment.

Beware of overfeeding the baby and ruining the digestive organs early in life by giving them too much work to do.

Beware of underfeeding the baby by sticking too closely to a system laid down in some book that dictates just so much food at so many stated periods of the day. Many children have grown puny and weak by being ruled by the method that has happened to prove successful for some other child.

Beware of breaking your promise to children. They often remember better than you do, and a breach of faith is a great shock to them.

Beware of violent noises and rough shakings or tossings in trying to amuse the baby. They are hurtful to the child and should be avoided as much as possible.

Beware of putting infants in a sitting posture until they are at least 3 months old, when they will probably sit up of their own accord. They should be carried flat in the arms when very young, for if the little back is curved it may lead to curvature of the spine or weak chest.

Beware of a rough comb in caring for the tender scalps. A proper comb for the baby's head is one the teeth of which are even and regular, with points not too sharp, but smoothly rounded. In selecting it, it should be held up to the light to detect any roughening or splitting of the teeth at the sides.

The Kind of Man Wanted.

There is a good demand today for men to work on poultry farms, and there are many men apparently looking without much success for positions on such farms. The trouble is that too many men of limited experience are trying to get important places, positions of responsibility with good salaries, while what employers want is good men for subordinate positions. Another element of difficulty is in the condition of many of the applicants for work. Many of them are not robust, while employers mostly want strong and active men who can stand any work required of them. They want men, too, who will be content to settle down and learn the business thoroughly, and this they feel sure many of the applicants do not intend to do. There are too many who want to work on practical poultry farms just long enough to get some ideas, which to them seem very good and complete, of how things are done there, and then proceed to put their inexperience into practice on their own account.—Farm Poultry.

"My dear," said Mr. Bickers to his wife, "I saw in the papers today of a decision of a court that the wife may in some cases be the head of the family."

COTTON MARKETS.

By Telegraph to the Morning Star.

NEW YORK, Nov. 22.—The cotton market opened firm at an advance of four to six points and gained an additional point or two immediately after the call on vigorous buying for both accounts, led by room shorts and by Wall street bulls. Speculation was decidedly the largest of recent times, though far under the tremendous trade of a year ago. On the upturn, Europe, the South, and commission houses were liberal buyers, particularly of January and March options, which led the improvement and repeatedly sold at 7.70. In addition to strong English cables the market was strengthened by light receipts, a bad weather map and reliable reports of an advance of 1 16c to ⅛c in spot prices South. A firmer ruling of print cloths, more glowing reports from dry goods centers and small crop estimates from the South were influences upon which early bullish confidence was based. More talk of a small government crop estimate next month was indulged in. The week end figures were decidedly bullish; the total amount brought into sight was 425,000 bales against 386,000 last year. Late in the day there was a slight reaction under a flurry of profit taking but the market readily stiffened up again on renewed demand from shorts and fresh buying from the outside. On the close the market was steady with November unchanged and other months two to five points higher.

PAYING MEXICO'S SOLDIERS.

When the Private's Turn Comes, There Is Little Silver Left.

"Things have greatly improved for the private soldier in the Mexican army of late," said a resident of New Orleans whose business takes him frequently into the sister republic, "but only a few years ago he had a pretty rough time of it, and as for his pay—well, I'll tell you a little story that covers the ground fairly well. On one occasion I spent several months in a small town in the northern part of the country where a regiment of infantry was temporarily in barracks. Of course I got well acquainted with all the officers from the colonel down and found them, without exception, royal good fellows. But the poor soldiers were as tough looking a lot of scarecrows as I ever laid eyes on. Their uniforms were in rags and tatters, half of them were barefooted, and the other half had no hats, while their arms and accouterments were in a condition to match.

"The paymaster used to get around about every two months, and his arrival would be a signal for great excitement at the barracks. He did his business, however, entirely with the colonel and after inspecting the rolls would place a certain sum of money in that dignitary's hands, dine formally with the whole staff and take his departure. Next day the colonel would call in the captains of the several companies and give each of them a bag of dollars. The captains would thereupon summon the lieutenants, who, in turn, would send for the sergeants, and thus the money would glide down the line until it finally reached the corporals, who did the actual paying off of the men.

"How it happened I don't undertake to say, but with each transfer the cash invariably suffered a shrinkage. Perhaps it was due to abrasion. Anyhow, not more than a third ever reached the rank and file. That would have been bad enough, but in this regiment there was also a curious ebb tide, so to speak, that swept a good deal of the money back through the original channel of distribution. The whole crowd, from private to commander, were inveterate poker players, and by a mysterious freak of fate their ability was in almost exact ratio to their rank—the old colonel being acknowledged champion of the department.

"After pay day there was always a grand poker orgy, in which the noncommissioned officers usually cleaned out the privates. Then a few lieutenants would swoop down and wind up the 'noncoms,' to get looted themselves by their captains, who invariably fell victims to the superior skill of the colonel. The result was that the unfortunate private never got over a third of his pay and never had that longer than 48 hours. He got it in the neck both 'comin and gwine,' as the old darky remarked."—New Orleans Times-Democrat.

WHY THEY ARE STRANGERS.

He Fell Overboard and She Threw Queer Life Preservers at Him.

"Now, William, I'm going to have a frank talk with you. I've known you ever since you were born, and our families have been intimate since Detroit was a village. What is the reason that the engagement between you and my niece is broken?"

This plain spoken woman is an elderly spinster and has charge of the young person referred to, who is an orphan in addition to being an heiress, present and prospective. Like many another venerable maiden holding such relationship, she is exceedingly proud and sensitive where her charge is concerned. "She's bright, cheerful, rich, accomplished, well bred and beautiful," the aunt proceeded in a higher key. "Now, what's the trouble?"

"What's the use of thrashing the matter over?" answered the young man. "She's engaged now. The incident is closed."

"I want to know. I don't understand, and it worries me."

"Well, you remember that yachting trip we took rather late last fall, and you know that I've said a million times that I would never have a wife who was not cool headed, courageous and quick to act intelligently in an emergency. I suppose I'm a crank on the subject, but that is the way I've always felt about it."

"I know. But she is. She always was. It runs in the family."

"Pardon me, but wait. One cool evening when it was blowing half a gale we were out in Lake St. Clair, and because I was running about too carelessly I fell overboard. She screamed, called me by name and rushed back and forth distractedly. Then she realised that something must be done."

"Of course she did. Just like her."

She knocked over two or three chairs getting to one of those soapstones that they use for foot warmers and threw that at me. Then she rushed down into the cabin, came back with an oil stove in her arms and shouted, 'Here, Will!' as she heaved the thing toward me."

"I don't believe it," said aunty's head was way in the air. "I don't believe a word of it. But if it's true there's only one explanation."

"And that?"

"She wanted to sink you."—Detroit Free Press.

A Hard Customer to Sell.

Two drummers were relating the experiences of their last trip. Said one: "I ran across a country storekeeper that broke all records. He is a hard customer, and no one can sell to him but one man. When I got in his town, I made up my mind I'd give him a line of goods—make him a present of them, mind you, just for the satisfaction of selling them in his store. Well, I laid out some samples and gave him a fair price. He hesitated, and I lowered the figures. Presently I told him that he could have them at his own price and pay for them in 30, 60, 90 days or two years. I told him to take the goods, then when he got ready pay for them. He wanted to think of it. That was enough to stun a fellow, but I let it go at that and called in the afternoon.

"'Made up your mind?' I asked.

"'Not exactly,' he answered slowly. 'You will let me have them at my own price and pay for them when I get ready?'

"'That's the proposition.'

"'Is that the best you can do?' he drawled out. Well, I couldn't tell this to the firm, but I slammed the door in his face and ran down the street."—Exchange.

How to Make Cheese Souffle.

Three cups of cheese, two eggs, one-half teaspoonful of soda, one-half teaspoonful of salt, one-half teaspoonful of mustard, one teaspoonful of worcestershire sauce, one teaspoonful of lemon juice, one tablespoonful of butter, one-half cupful of hot water, red pepper. Use the blazer and the hot water pan. Melt the butter and break the cheese in small pieces and add it, with the seasoning. Dissolve the soda in one-half cup of hot water and gradually add it to the melting cheese. Add a little cold water to the yolks of the eggs, beat them and stir them into the cheese. As soon as it is smooth and creamy put in the worcestershire sauce and lemon juice. Beat the whites of the eggs separately and whip into the cheese last. Serve at once on small squares of lightly browned toast.

How to Make Turtle Soup.

Scald and scrape the outer skin off the shell of the turtle; open it carefully, so as not to break the gall; break both shells to pieces and put into the pot; lay the fins, the eggs and some of the more delicate parts by; put the rest into the pot with a couple of quarts of water. Add two onions, parsley, thyme, salt, pepper, cloves and allspice to suit your taste. An hour before dinner take the paste laid by, roll them in brown flour, fry them in butter, put them with the eggs in the soup. About half an hour before dinner thicken the soup with browned flour and butter rubbed together. Serve very hot.

Too Much Housework

wrecks a woman's nervous system. The constant care of young children, added to this, soon breaks the health of the strongest woman. The haggard faces in thousands of homes tell the story of the over-worked housewife and mother. Excessive work in stores and offices gives the same "dragged-out" feeling. Deranged menses result from overwork and exposure and falling of the womb, leucorrhœa and all the attendant ailments soon follow. Every little strain centers in the abdomen and gives insufferable pain to the woman who has allowed herself to become run down on account of her exciting duties. Every housewife needs to regulate her menstrual flow, to reinforce her strength and to keep her sensitive female organs in perfect condition. The Wine is doing this for thousands of women today. It cured Mrs. Jones completely and that is why she writes this frank letter:

GLENDEAWN, KY., Feb. 10, 1901.

I am so glad that your Wine of Cardui is helping me. I am feeling better than I have felt for years. I am doing my own work without any help and I washed last week and was not one bit tired. That shows that Wine of Cardui is doing me good. I am getting fleshier than I ever was before and sleep good and eat heartily. Before I began taking Wine of Cardui I used to have to lie down five or six times every day but now I do not think of lying down through the day.

Thin Out In September.

Thin out the old fowls now to make room for the youngsters in September, says A. F. Hunter. At this season there is always a good home market for fowls, because of the many summer visitors to the country, and we should take advantage of this demand to work off the old and unprofitable birds. Save a few of the best ones for next year's breeders, and market the rest of them.

Lots to Learn Yet.

Rome wasn't built in a day, nor is a poultryman made in a single season, says Iowa Homestead. The best of them still have a good deal to learn and are entirely ready to admit it, and it is no shame to the beginner if he makes a good many mistakes. The thing to do is to persist in spite of them and be careful, attentive and studious in mastering poultry problems.

A Deep Mystery.

It is a mystery why women endure Backache, Headache, Nervousness, Sleeplessness, Melancholy, Fainting and Dizzy Spells when thousands have proved that Electric Bitters will quickly cure such troubles. "I suffered for years with kidney trouble," writes Mrs. Phebe Cherley, of Peterson, Ia., "and a lame back pained me so I could not dress myself, but Electric Bitters wholly cured me, and, although 73 years old, I am now able to do all my housework." It overcomes Constipation, improves Appetite, gives perfect health. Only 50c at R. R. BELLAMY'S drug store. †

THE LATEST AS TO NERVES AND STRENGTH

It is not muscle so much as the nerves back of muscle which show one's strength and power of endurance. And the study with able physicians of to-day is how to keep the nerves in perfect health and fitted for the strain of everyday living. Headache of every type, nerve weakness, dyspepsia, sleeplessness, languor, restlessness, nervous dyspepsia, muscular weakness, brain weariness, poor circulation,—a thousand different unpleasant feelings and symptoms are due to nerve waste and nerve weakness,—especially in women and children. But how can all this be prevented, one will ask? How can my broken-down constitution be repaired, and nerve strength and full, robust health be secured. Just two points to remember: Determine that you will grow strong in nerves and health, and decide to use at once that most famous nerve cure, COCELIN. It is delicious in taste, quick in action and makes the wearied nerves tingle with renewed strength and every function the stronger and faculty the brighter by its use. Druggists sell it.

SATURDAY MORNING, NOV. 23.

WILL BE A MASSIVE VOLUME.

Report of Impeachment Trial Will be Issued by State Printers.

[News and Observer, 22nd.]

A report of the trial for the impeachment of the Supreme Court Judges, which the State is printing as an official document, will be issued from the presses of the State printers All the copy has been turned in and the finishing work is being done.

The publication will be in one volume, though a very large one. It will comprise about 1,000 pages. The testimony and all the speeches save two will be contained in the one volume. It has been impossible to obtain the speeches delivered by ex-Gov. T. J. Jarvis and Capt Chas. M. Cooke. Neither of these gentlemen wrote their speeches and they were not taken down by a stenographer.

The publication of this report will be considerable and will swell the cost of the impeachment court.

MUTUAL LIFE OF NEW YORK.

High Character of Investments—Income More Than $200,000 a Day.

NEW YORK, Nov. 22.—Recent occurrences have called world-wide attention to the high character of the investments of the Mutual Life Insurance Company of New York. No questionable securities of any kind are ever considered by the company. An evidence of the thrift and skill of the management is the fact that the Mutual Life has either paid back to policy-holders or holds for their benefit nearly ninety million ($90,000,000) dollars in excess of the entire sum ever received by the company from its members. This is nearly four times as much as the twenty-eight other life companies reporting to the insurance commissioner of New York can together show. The income of the Mutual Life is more than two hundred thousand ($200,000) dollars every day.

CASE OF MRS. DALE.

Woman Charged With Murdering Her Child at Hoboken, N J

By Telegraph to the Morning star.

NEW YORK, November 22.—The internal organs of Emeline Dale, the child who died in Hoboken early on Tuesday morning and whose mother is a prisoner, charged with her murder, are now in the possession of Dr. Otto Schultz, of Cornell College, who will examine them for traces of poison. Dr. E. N. Smith, of this city, will make the microscopic examination.

The autopsy was performed yesterday afternoon. After the autopsy the physicians declined to talk. No report can be expected for some days.

The authorities are working to establish a motive for the alleged crime. The county authorities and the Hoboken police are, they claim, forging what they consider a strong chain of evidence. According to the authorities they understand the will of Mrs. Dale's father is said to have been so drafted that in case of Emeline's death Mrs. Dale would be sole beneficiary.

MRS. LOLA BONINE SEEMED UNMOVED.

When Witnesses Told of the Finding of the Dead Body of Ayres.

BLOODY UNDERSHIRT SHOWN.

Sight of the Garment Affected the Prisoner More Than Any Preceding Incident in the Course of the Trial. Testimony of Police.

By Telegraph to the Morning Star.

WASHINGTON, Nov. 22.—Five witnesses were heard to-day in the trial of Mrs. Lola Ida Bonine for the murder of James S. Ayres, Jr. Four of the witnesses were police officers who had gone to Ayres' room after discovery of the body by employes of the Kenmore Hotel, and the fifth was W. W. Warfield, who was proprietor of the hotel at the time of the tragedy. The policemen testified as to details of the wounds, position of the body and arrangement of the furniture in the room. Mr. Warfield's testimony was very brief. In response to a question by Attorney Fulton, of Mrs. Bonine's counsel, he said that Mrs. Bonine had made arrangements to leave the hotel before the tragedy occurred, but both question and answer subsequently were ruled out. It is understood to be the intention of the defence to recall Mr. Warfield later for the purpose of eliciting information from him upon this and other points in Mrs. Bonine's behalf.

Mrs. Bonine's party in the court room was increased to-day by the addition of her brother, Grant Henry, who lives at St. Joseph, Mo. Only once during the day did Mrs. Bonine display emotion, and that was when the bloody undershirt, which had been worn by Ayres on the night of the killing, was identified by Officer Brady.

Ayres' Body.

Policeman Walter S. Brady was the first witness called. He was on duty near the Kenmore Hotel on the morning that Ayres' body was discovered, and he was summoned to the hotel at abut 8.20 o'clock by the proprietor, W. W. Warfield, who told him that he thought he had a suicide up-stairs. The witness was then escorted to Ayres' room in company with three or four other persons. Finding the door fastened he had, under Mr. Warfield's instructions, forced it open. Upon subsequent investigation he had found that the door was bolted and not locked. The body of the dead man, he said, was lying on the floor near the window, in a bent position and with the arms drawn up in front of the face. The head lay across one of the rounds of a rocking chair and the only clothing on the body was a light undershirt. The shirt was open at the neck and the upper portion of it was covered with blood. There was some blood on the left sleeve of the garment. The hands and feet also were bloody, the latter looking as if he had stepped in the blood which was on the floor in considerable quantity. Three wounds were found upon the body, one being in the breast, another in the arm and the third in the thigh. The bed looked, he said, as if some one had lain in it and had gotten up, throwing the cover back as he did so. There was no other disorder about it and there was only one indentation in the pillow. Ayres' coat, vest and trousers were carefully laid over the back of a chair. He said that a pistol and a small single-barrelled shot gun lay on a trunk in the room and that the barrel and the chambers of the pistol were covered with blood. The pistol was exhibited to Mr. Brady and identified by him. He handled it freely as he described the condition of the weapon. Mrs. Bonine regarded the witness and the weapon with close scrutiny, but gave no evidence of any emotion.

The Blood Stains.

There were blood stains on the window sill, the washboard and the rocker. On a table in the room there were nine cartridges lying loose. The gas was burning when he entered the room, but was turned low. The lower sash of the one window in the room was up as far as it would go. The string on the window shade was covered with blood as if it had been drawn through bloody fingers.

In concluding his examination in chief of the witness District Attorney Gould put in evidence the under shirt found on the body of Ayres. It was well stained with blood. The sight of the garment apparently affected the prisoner more than any preceeding incident in the course of the trial.

On cross-examination Officer Brady said a boy had first notified him of the tragedy. Mrs. Bonine's oldest son was told to stand up and Lawyer Douglass asked the witness if he was the messenger. The witness failed to identify him. He did not notice any finger-prints on the pistol he found in the room. He had discovered what he believed to be finger-prints on the window sill. The detached piece of the window sill was identified by the witness, who said the blood stains were more distinct on the morning of May 15th than now.

Officer Brady said in reply to other questions by Mr. Douglass that the loose pistol cartridges found on the table were filled and were of calibre 32, the same calibre as those found in the revolver. In that weapon there were three loaded empty shells. He said the bed as shown in the photographs of Ayres' room was much more disordered than when he first went to the room, but he did not know who had disturbed it before the photograph was made. Mr. Douglass brought out the fact that the top button-hole of Ayres' undershirt was torn out.

Policeman Fulton Wolfe gave testimony covering much the same ground as that of the preceding witness.

Shot at Close Range.

Policeman Benjamin F. Williams, an early vistor to the scene of the tragedy, corroborated the statements of his brother officers. He said Ayres' shoes and stockings were under the bed. He also said that the blood marks on the pistol indicated that it had been grasped around the chambers and barrel by a bloody hand.

Mr. Williams said that he had discovered no evidence of a struggle in Ayres' room when he entered it. He also replied in the negative, as officers Brady and Wolfe had done, when asked if he had discovered any hairpins on the floor.

On cross-examination he said he had noticed the torn condition of the upper button-hole of Ayres' shirt, and he added that the corresponding button was hanging by a thread. There also were powder marks about the wounds on Ayres' body, indicating that he was shot at close range.

The next witness was W. W. Warfield, who was the proprietor of the Kenmore Hotel, when the homicide occurred there. The witness said Ayres had told him that the lock of the door to his room was out of order and that the door could not be fastened with it.

Mrs. Bonine's Arrangements.

Mr. Fulton, on cross-examination, asked the witness if Mrs. Bonine had made arrangements to leave the Kenmore prior to the tragedy. Mr. Gould objected, but before he could state his objection the witness replied that she had made such arrangements. Mr. Gould then asked to have the reply stricken from the record as irrelevant. Mr. Fulton contended strongly for the admissibility of the question, saying that the theory of the government concerning the killing of Ayres made it decidedly relevant to show that Mrs. Bonine had prepared to leave the house before Ayres had made his arrangements to go away.

If this could be established it would go far toward relieving Mrs. Bonine of the charge that her relations with Ayres were such as to cause her to take extreme steps to prevent his going away. The court decided that the question would be more relevant on direct examination, as the point had not been touched upon by Mr. Gould.

The last witness of the day was J. Frank Drew, a special policeman, who lived in the Kenmore Hotel, who accompanied officer Brady to Ayres' room. His testimony, as far as it went, covered the same ground as that covered by the other policemen. His examination had not been completed when the court adjourned until Monday.

MISSING NELLIE CROPSEY.

Excitement Continues at Elizabeth City Over Young Lady's Disappearance.

By Telegraph to the Morning Star.

RALEIGH, N. C., Nov. 22.—News just received from Elizabeth City, N. C., indicates that the search for 17-year-old Nellie Cropsey, missing from her home in that city since 11 o'clock P. M. November 20th, points either to suicide by drowning or departure in a river craft. "Hurricane" Branch, with bloodhounds, arrived on the scene about noon to day. The dogs were given the scent from the absent girl's shoes and stockings, and followed the trail through a turnip patch along the river and finally to a pier, where it was lost. The suicide theory is weakened by resultless river dragging. Nellie was last seen on her porch with her lover, James Wilcox, and it is said he left her crying. Great excitement prevails, owing to the mystery.

WESTERN N. C. CONFERENCE.

Urged to Unite With Other Conference in Establishing an Orphanage.

By Telegraph to the Morning Star.

GASTONIA, N. C., Nov. 22.—At the third day's session of the Western North Carolina Methodist Conference, Rev. J. B. Hurley, of the Methodist Orphanage, Raleigh, urged the conference to unite with the other conference in establishing an orphanage which would be a credit to Carolina Methodism.

Rev. L. W. Crawford, editor of the North Carolina Christian Advocate, stated that he had sold an interest in the paper to D. B. Coltrane, of Concord, with the understanding that it might be sold to the conference at the same price paid, and that he was not a candidate for editor.

The question of admitting Rev. Edward H. Green, late a priest of the Episcopal Church, caused a warm discussion, but was carried.

The whole force of 150 men employed by the Norton Coal Company are out, and seventy-five, the entire force of the Wise Coal Company, have also quit work. The miners have no grievance except that the companies will not recognize the Union.

LIBERALS GAINING MANY RECRUITS.

Control the Railroad Across the Isthmus to Within Two Miles of Panama.

ATTACK ON CITY EXPECTED.

Colombian Government Unable to Guarantee Integrity of Railway Communication—U. S. Battleship Iowa to Land Forces at Panama.

By Cable to the Morning Star.

COLON, COLOMBIA, Nov. 22, 5 P. M.—The latest news obtainable here is to the effect that the Liberal Gen. Lugo has arrived at Empire station, distant about twelve miles from Panama, with a force said to number 1,000 men. The Liberals are gaining and arming many recruits along the entire length of the railroad and now control the line up to within a point two miles from Panama. An attack on that city is expected momentarily, and much uneasiness is felt there. The Liberal leader, Domingo Diaz, is expected shortly to arrive at Colon.

It is rumored here that Buena Ventura (a Colombian port on the Pacific coast, about four hundred miles south of Panama) has been taken by the Liberals. Confirmation of this report is lacking.

Marines from the gunboat Machias still guard the station and property of the railroad here.

The battleship Iowa will land forces at Panama when the necessity arises.

Duty of the United States.

WASHINGTON, November 22.—The answer of the Colombian Government to the representations of Consul General Gudger to the effect that the government was unable to guarantee the integrity of the railway communication across the isthmus, was purposely developed in order to make perfectly plain the fact that the United States was thoroughly justified in landing its forces at Colon. With this formal acknowledgement from the Colombian government of its inability to maintain communication, it becomes, it is said, not the privilege but the duty, of the United States under the treaty of New Granada to guarantee that communication, even though the use of force is necessary. It is not intended to interfere between factions, Conservative or Liberal, unless a faction places itself in the position of obstructing the purpose of the United States to keep the Panama railroad open to free traffic.

MAY END THE REVOLUTION.

Gen. Reyes in All Probability Will Accept the Presidency of Colombia, to Which He Has Been Called.

By Telegraph to the Morning Star

MEXICO CITY, Nov. 22.—Gen. Ospina, late minister of war of Colombia, states that in all probability matters will be arranged whereby Gen. Reyes will return to accept the presidency of Colombia. Ospina brings with him a letter from San Clement, the legal president, now confined by the actual president, Parroquin, tendering his resignation.

Gen. Reyes last night received a cablegram from Parroquin saying that he intended to resign and asking Gen. Reyes to assume the office.

Gen. Carces, who is here in the interest of the revolutionary party, says Gen. Reyes is entirely acceptable to all but a few of the violent partisans. The proposition under contemplation is to place Gen. Reyes in office, declare a general amnesty, and make up a cabinet composed of all of the various factions. This, it is believed, would end the revolution.

How To Get Rich.

The men who are rich to-day, were, in nine cases out of ten, poor in early life. Their earnings at first very small, but their expenses were still less; the difference was carefully saved, deposited in some safe place, made to yield interest, and thus foundations were slowly laid for large accumulations. When a man begins to spend less than he makes his good fortune begins, and his luck favors him. Therefore begin to day to save and be sure your money is in a safe place. We claim to be such a place and invite investigation. Money deposited now draws 4 per cent. from December 1st.
